

Assessing the use of prophetic Hadiths in explaining the Qur'anic words in the Al-Kashshaaf commentary and its reflection in the contemporary Persian translations of the Quran

Reza Amaani<sup>1</sup>, Khadijeh Faryaad-res<sup>*2</sup>

1- Assistant Professor, Quranic Sciences University, Tehran, Iran

2- M.A in Quran and Hadith sciences, Tehran, Iran

Received: 4/2/2017

Accepted: 31/5/2017

Abstract

One of the important principles of Al-Zamakhshari in commentary is the use of prophetic Hadiths to study issues such as literary sciences, Qur'anic sciences, etc., in order to understand the meaning of the verse. Meanwhile it is noteworthy that Zamakhshari used from prophetic Hadiths in 19 cases to explain the meaning of words. In this regard, the present study, based on the analytical-describing method and a critical approach, evaluates four challenging applications in terms of the meaning of the word by analyzing the Zamakhshari's views and then reflects the result of the review of the meaning of the words in the contemporary Persian translations of the Quran. And finally, it has come to the conclusion that in the majority of cases Zamakhshari did not properly use the narratives, and on the other hand, contemporary Persian translations have not been successful in this regard, but in any case, almost the late Ayatollah Meshkini has been more successful than other translators.

Keywords: Quran, Al-Zamakhshari, prophetic Hadiths, contemporary Persian translations, Al-Kashshaaf commentary

---

*Corresponding author e-mail address: faryadres@chmail.ir

A Study of the Coordination of Non-structural Grammatical Cohesion in the First Sermon of Nahj al-Balagha and its Translations

Javad Garjani<sup>*1</sup>, Adel Azad-del<sup>2</sup>, Saeid Mohammadi<sup>3</sup>

1- Assistant Professor in Arabic Language & Literature, University of Mohaghegh Ardabili, Ardabil, Iran

2- Assistant Professor in Arabic Language & Literature, University of Mohaghegh Ardabili, Ardabil, Iran

3- Master of Arabic Translation, University of Mohaghegh Ardabili, Ardabil, Iran

Received: 1/2/2017

Accepted: 25/7/2017

Abstract

Cohesion is a term used in the field of functional linguistics that analyzes the relationships between different constructive elements of that text in both text grammatical (structural and non-structural) and vocabulary levels. In discussing the cohesion of non-structural grammar, the four dimensions: references, relevance, substitution and elimination are considered as factors integrating text, each, among other cohesive factors, can lead to cohesion and integration of text. With regard to necessity of the principle of balance and equality in the process of translation, the reflection of each of mentioned factors in the translations, along with aligned progress with the original text, is very important. Since Nahj al-Balagha, as a coherent text, includes different cohesive kinds, it is expected that its final translations reflect these integrating elements in itself. This article, with a descriptive-analytic approach, deals with the studying and accommodating the non-structural components of grammatical cohesion in the first sermon of Nahj al-Balagha and its five selected translation. In this way, the level of translators' loyalty to the reflections of these cohesive elements was examined and finally, it was concluded that some of the translators, in the light of equivalent progress and having equality with the original text and additionally, through the selection of suitable subjects among many other elements, fully reflected the existing cohesion in the original text into their translations. There were some cases of translators who have neglected this principle; this neglect may be due to factors such as translator's style and language capacity of the destination text.

Keywords: non-structural grammatical cohesion, translation, principle of equilibrium, Nahj al-Balagha

---

*Corresponding author e-mail address: javad.garjani@gmail.com

The application of vocabulary's referencing meanings in translation process of Nahj al-Balagha

Rasoul fathi mozafari<sup>*1</sup>, seyyed Mahdi masbough<sup>2</sup>, morteza ghaemi<sup>3</sup>

1- Ph.D. in Arabic Language and Literature, Bu-Ali Sina University, Hamedan, Iran

2- Associate Professor of Arabic Language and Literature, Bu-Ali Sina University, Hamedan, Iran

3- Associate Professor of Arabic Language and Literature, Bu-Ali Sina University, Hamedan, Iran

Received: 31/3/2016

Accepted: 23/5/2017

Abstract

One of the most important principles in the fields of semantics and translation technology is the recognition of the type of applied vocabulary in one language. If we count the source language words as the smallest translation unit, meanwhile, we will be faced with two types of general meanings: referential meaning and context meaning. The referential meaning is the first guide of translator to achieve equality in translation. In this article we have tried to, while explaining the importance of recognizing the meaning of referral in achieving accurate translation in religious texts, using descriptive-analytical method, criticize and analyze the performance of five Persian translations of sermons of Nahj al-Balagha. Includes translations of Mr. Jafari, Dashti, Shahidi, Faqihi and Feyzul Islam in the translation of referential meanings of one hundred and twelve words. The result of research indicates that although the knowledge of referential meaning of words is easier than context meaning, but the translation of a work into another language is facing challenges. Some of these challenges include the lack of knowledge of structure of word and confusion in terms of form and meaning of the source language words with other words. The existence of such issues have caused to the translation of Nahj al-Balagha be away from the equality in translation.

Keywords: referential meaning, Nahj al-Balagha translations, equilibrium and equality

---

*Corresponding author e-mail address: mmm.basu@yahoo.com

The lexical critique of Mousavi Garmaroudi's translation of the Holy Qur'an (Relying on the lexical semantic theory of Garces)

Mohammad Rahimi Khovaygani<sup>*1</sup>

1- Assistant Professor in Arabic Language & Literature, University of Isfahan, Iran

Received: 4/1/2017

Accepted: 20/8/2017

Abstract

One of the criticisms that apply to translations of various texts, including the Quran, is lexical critique. One of the models presented in this type of critique is based on Garces' theory.

The present study intends to criticize and evaluate the lexical selections of the translation of Mousavi Garmaroudi from Quran based on the semantic level of the Garces pattern. For this purpose, first and briefly, the theory of Garces is introduced, and then, the applicable cases of this theory, based on the examples of the above translation, mentioned under separate titles and in detail. The most important findings of this research, with a descriptive-analytic approach, indicate that the Garmaroudi's translation vocabulary from the perspective of the components of Garces theory can be criticized and evaluated. This translation is regarded as an explanatory translation -explanatory and lexical explanation- which contains countless instances of similarity and equivalence -conventional and unconventional equivalent- lexical expansion and reduction, as well as the transmission of ambiguity.

Keywords: Holy Quran, Mousavi Garmaroudi, translation, Garces paradigm, Vocabulary

---

*Corresponding author e-mail address: Rahimim65@gmail.com

Reviewing and criticizing the semantic types of the word "Nashata" in Persian translations of the Holy Quran

Zahra Heidari Abravan<sup>*1</sup>, Bibi-Hakimeh Hoseini<sup>2</sup>

1- Ph.D. student of Quranic sciences and Hadith, Ferdowsi University of Mashhad, Iran

2- Assistant Professor of Quran and Hadith, Quranic Studies and Education University of Mashhad, Iran

Received: 2/5/2017

Accepted: 27/8/2017

Abstract

The single-use vocabulary in comparison to other vocabulary in the Holy Qur'an requires more precision in translating, because there are no other explanatory options in other verses and this lack of the same verse has made it difficult for them to translate. The verb "Nashata" is one of the single-use vocabulary in the Holy Qur'an mentioned only in verse 2 of the surah "Nazeaat". It seems that the translators in dealing with this word have been made different types of translations and have different voices. The present paper aims at analyzing the data and choosing the best translation, by classifying the approaches of translators and analyzing the Qur'anic data, to examine and critique the semantic forms presented by them to answer finally to this question that which translation is eventually has more credibility and is more reliable?

The result of this study is as follows: The translators have used three methods (literal, loyal and interpretive) in the translation of this verse, but, in fact, no one has been succeeded in complying with all the rules contained in the truth of the word, and consequently, it is necessary to present a corresponding meaning to the truth of the word.

Keywords: Nashetat, Holy Qur'an, Nazeaat, Nashata, Persian translations of the Quran

---

*Corresponding author e-mail address: Zahra.hwidary@mail.ru

A comparative evaluation of elements of cohesion in the Surah At-Tariq and its translation from Mohammad Mahdi Fouladvand: from the perspective of the Holliday and Hassan theory (1985)

Mohammad Taqi Zand Vakili<sup>1</sup>, Mohammad Hassan Amraee<sup>*2</sup>

1-Assistant Professor in Arabic Language & Literature, Sistan and Baluchistan University, Iran

2- PhD in Arabic Language & Literature, Razi University, Kerman-shah, Iran

Received: 13/5/2017

Accepted: 29/8/2017

Abstract

Many scholars in the field of Qur'an and translation have considered the translation of Mohammad Mahdi Fouladvand from the Holy Quran as one of the best contemporary translations of the Qur'an. And they find it reliable in terms of compliance with the source text, and applying the rules of language and expression, as well as the use of Persian phrasal vocabulary, which is often the main theme of coherence in the structure of the text. On the other hand, one of the small Qur'anic Surahs which, despite a small volume, speak of a variety of topics is the Surah of At-Tariq. Due to the diversity of the subject and the small volume, the quality of coherence in this chapter and its translation can be questioned. Thus, in this research, based on the evolved version of the systematic theory of Holliday and Hassan 1985.m, as well as the concept of cohesive coordination that Roghayeh Hasan introduced in 1984.m, the factors of coherence and coordination of coherence in Surah At-Tariq and its translation from Mohammad Mahdi Fouladvand were studied and reviewed selectively and inductively, based on descriptive - analytical and statistical evaluation. The author intends, with a spacious and textual view, relying on the above theory to determine the factors of coherence, coordination of coherence, and the amount of this cohesion, in the text of Surah At-Tariq and its translation, then compared both the source and destination to each other. The results of the research show that, despite the differences in the ratio of the grammatical elements and the lexical elements of the source and destination texts, both texts is coherent, also, due to the high percentage of the similarity of the target text to the source text in the way of applying the coherence factors, the translator has been able to translate successfully and reflect the meanings and concepts of translation to a large extent.

Keywords: the theory of Coherence, Coordination of Coherence, Surah At-Tariq, Persian Translation, Fouladvand

---

*Corresponding author e-mail address: amrayy77@yahoo.com

A Biannual Journal of Qur'an-Hadīth Translation Studies

Volume 4, Number 7, Spring & Summer 2017-2018

- A comparative evaluation of elements of cohesion in the Surah At-Tariq and its translation from Mohammad Mahdi Fouladvand: from the perspective of the Holliday and Hassan theory (1985) ..... 1
Mohammad Taqi Zand Vakili, Mohammad Hassan Amraee
- Reviewing and criticizing the semantic types of the word "Nashata" in Persian translations of the Holy Quran ..... 37
Zahra Heidari, Bibi-Hakimeh Hoseini
- The lexical critique of Mousavi Garmaroudi's translation of the Holy Qur'an (Relying on the lexical semantic theory of Garces) 69
Mohammad Rahimi Khovaygani
- The application of vocabulary's referencing meanings in translation process of Nahj al-Balagha ..... 95
Rasoul fathi mozafari, seyed Mahdi masbough, morteza ghaemi
- A Study of the Coordination of Non-structural Grammatical Cohesion in the First Sermon of Nahj al-Balagha and its Translations..... 125
Javad Garjami, Adel Azad-del, Saeid Mohammadi
- Assessing the use of prophetic Hadiths in explaining the Qur'anic words in the Al-Kashshaaf commentary and its reflection in the contemporary Persian translations of the Quran..... 153
Reza Amaani, Khadijeh Faryaad-res
- Abstract ..... 180

4. The articles should include the following files:

- A pdf file including the whole article without the reference information of the author (s) of the article;
- A word file including the entire main article along with the name and complete characteristics of the author (s).
- Complementary files including a commitment from showing that the article will neither be published in another journal nor will it be simultaneously sent to other journals; the approval form of the article for the articles elicited from theses or dissertations and the approval form of research works for independent articles;

5. The typesetting of the article should be done in word 2007 or word 2010, line spacing should be single, and the margins should be 2, 2.5, 2.5 and 3 centimeters for top, bottom, right and left margins, respectively. In typing the articles, it is necessary to use half-space. The authors are required to use the following fonts:

Farsi text: B Lotus soft 12; English text: Times 11; Arabic text: Traditional Arabic; article title: Bold B Nazanin 15; author, (s), reference information: Bold B Nazanin 12; Farsi abstract: Bold B Nazanin 10; within-text titles: Bold B Nazanin 13; references: B Nazanin 12.

6. In the articles with more than one author, it is essential that the name of the correspondent author be mentioned in the title page.

7. Referencing:

Book: Family name of the author(s)/his/her first name, book's title (in italic), translator, place of publication, publisher, publication year, and the related DOI.

Journal: Family name of the author(s) / his/her first name, the article's title (within the "quotation marks"), journal's name (in italic), the journal number, numbers of the first and the last pages of the article, publication year, and the related DOI.

Note: If the author is a legal entity (organization, institute, etc.), the title of that legal entity should be mentioned instead of the full name of the author.

8. The articles should have not been published already, nor be currently under consideration elsewhere.

9. The journal has the right of rejecting, accepting or editing the articles, and the received articles will not get returned.

Guidelines for Paper Submission

The articles in this journal are only accepted through the journals' Website of Tarbiat Modares University: mmtqh@modares.ac.ir

All contributors are kindly requested to consider the following points:

1. The Modares Journal of Qur'an-Hadīth Translation Studies is specialized in translation of Qur'an-Hadīth studies, and just accepts relevant topics including the following themes:

- Importance and Necessity of Translating the Qur'an and Hadīth
- Supporting Qur'an and Hadīth Translation
- Qur'an Translation and Islamic Studies
- Differences between Translating the Word of Allah and the Word of Man
- Differences between Translating the Qur'an and Non-Qur'anic Literary Texts
- Principles and Methods of Qur'an and Hadīth Translation
- Qur'an Translations quoted in Poetry and Prose
- Challenges of Qur'an and Hadīth Translation
- Units of Qur'an and Hadīth Translation
- Principles of Qur'an and Hadīth Translation
- Translation of Polysemic Words in the Qur'an and Hadīth
- (Un)translatability of the Qur'an and Hadīth
- Qur'an and Hadīth Translation Assessment
- Sociology of Qur'an and Hadīth Translation
- Characteristics of the Qur'an and Hadīth Translator
- Qur'an Translation and Translator's Ideology
- Earliest Versions of Qur'an and Hadīth Translations
- Ancient Translations of the Qur'an and Hadīth
- Contemporary Translations of the Qur'an and Hadīth

2. The structure of the article should include Persian and English abstracts, keywords, introduction, main body (theoretical discussions, data and research methodology, research findings, analysis and conclusion), acknowledgement, references and appendix.

3. The article should contain maximally 18 pages including the text, figures, tables, maps, references and the English abstract while observing the typesetting standards of the journal. The articles with beyond 18 pages will not be considered.

- The study and review of evidences for allowing or not allowing the translation of Qur'an.
- The review of juridical sentences in translation of Qur'an.
- Translations of the Qur'an and interdisciplinary topics (linguistics, semantics and anthropology, etc.)
- Qur'an and Ḥadīth translation methodology and stylistics.
- History of Qur'anic translations and the review of its historical evolution.
- The impact and influence of Qur'an translations in Persian and Arabic literature.
- Translation of Qur'an from the perspective of language historical evolution.
- Translation of the Qur'an and political, social and economic developments.
- Teaching methods of translation of the Holy Qur'an.
- Comparative review of Persian and non-Persian translations of Qur'an.
- The role of ancient Arabic and Persian dictionaries in translation of the Qur'an and Ḥadīth.
- The impact of Ḥadīth on translating the Qur'an.
- The advantages and disadvantages of new technologies in the translation of the Qur'an and religious texts.
- The role of language development in translation of the Qur'an and Islamic sacred texts.
- Mechanisms for strengthening the translations of Qur'an and Islamic sacred texts.
- Philological and linguistic study and review of ancient Translations of the Qur'an such as Tafsir al-Tabari, Tafsir Sūr-Abadi, Tafsir Qur'an-e Pak, Tafsir Abū al- Futūḥ.
- The review of Isra'iliyyat and its influence in translation of Qur'an.

Goals:

- To develop a professional look to the field of translation of the Qur'an and Ḥadīth.
- To introduce the principles and foundations of translation of the Qur'an and other narrative books.
- To perform profound researches in the field of translation of Qur'an.
- To develop infrastructures for identifying and evaluating appropriate styles and methods in the translation of the Qur'an, the holy traditions and religious sources.
- To prepare the ground for solving the problems of translation of the Holy Qur'an, the holy Ḥadīth and the other books in the future.
- To prepare the ground for reviewing and studying the theories of translation and linguistics in the field of the Qur'an and Ḥadīth and religious books.
- To provide the perfect platform to help translators of the Qur'an, Ḥadīth and interpretative books for presenting proper translations.

The Journal accepts articles in the following topics:

- Critical analysis of Persian and non-Persian translations of Qur'an based on the theories of translation.
- Critical review of interpretations of the Holy Qur'an in different languages.
- The study and review of translations of Nahj al-Balagha, narrative books, supplications and other religious sources.
- Identifying the problems and difficulties associated with translation of Qur'an and Ḥadīth.
- Pathology and Finding obstacles in translation of Qur'an and Ḥadīth.
- Identifying the principles and methods of Qur'an and Ḥadīth Translations.
- The study and review of (theological, philosophical, juridical and mystical) principles of Qur'an and Ḥadīth translation.
- Comparative review of Shia and Sunni translations of Qur'an.

A Biannual Journal of Qur'an- Hadīth Translation Studies

Publisher	TarbiatModares University
Editor-in-Chief	Dr. Saeed Najafi Asadollahi
Director-in-Charge	Dr. Ali Haji-Khani
Internal Manager	Sayyed Ebrahim Arman
Executive Editor	Shohre Heidari

Editorial Board

Saeed Bozorg-Bigdeli (Assoc.Prof.)	Aliyeh Kord Zaferanlou (Assoc.Prof.)
Ali Haji-Khani (Assis.Prof.)	Abbas Mosallaei-poor (Assoc.Prof.)
Roqayeh Rostam-poor Maleki (Assoc.Prof.)	Hamid-reza Mir-haji (Assoc.Prof.)
Kavous Rouhi (Assis.Prof.)	Reza Nazemiyan (Assoc.Prof.)
Abdol-Hadi Feqhi-zadeh (Assoc.Prof.)	Saeed Najafi Asadollahi (Prof.)
Fathiyeh Fattahi-zadeh (Assoc.Prof.)	Naser Nikoo-bakht (Prof.)

Literary Editor (Persian), Type and Layout	Shohreh Heydari
Literary Editor (English)	Mahdi Naseri
Technical Advisor	Mostafa Janjani
Print	Shams

Address: Tarbiat Modares University, Tehran, Islamic Republic of Iran

P.O. Box: 14115-139

Tel. Fax: 82884614

E-mail: mmtqh@modares.ac.ir

Biannual Journal of Qur'an-Hadīth Translation Studies

Volume 4, Number 7, Spring & summer 2017-2018

- A comparative evaluation of elements of cohesion in the Surah At-Tariq and its translation from Mohammad Mahdi Fouladvand: from the perspective of the Holliday and Hassan theory (1985) ..... 1
Mohammad Taqi Zand Vakili, Mohammad Hassan Amraee
- Reviewing and criticizing the semantic types of the word "Nashata" in Persian translations of the Holy Quran ..... 37
Zahra Heidari, Bibi-Hakimeh Hoseini
- The lexical critique of Mousavi Garmaroudi's translation of the Holy Qur'an (Relying on the lexical semantic theory of Garces) 69
Mohammad Rahimi Khovaygani
- The application of vocabulary's referencing meanings in translation process of Nahj al-Balagha ..... 95
Rasoul fathi mozafari, seyed Mahdi masbough, morteza ghaemi
- A Study of the Coordination of Non-structural Grammatical Cohesion in the First Sermon of Nahj al-Balagha and its Translations..... 125
Javad Garjami, Adel Azad-del, Saeid Mohammadi
- Assessing the use of prophetic Hadiths in explaining the Qur'anic words in the Al-Kashshaaf commentary and its reflection in the contemporary Persian translations of the Quran..... 153
Reza Amaani, Khadijeh Faryaad-res
- Abstract ..... 180